IT 632: Software Design and Modeling

Center: Online

Course Prerequisites

IT 511

Course Description

This course covers software development life cycle models (waterfall, spiral, agile, etc.) with an emphasis on the design phase. Given software system requirements, students will create and document a software design using industry standard modeling techniques with emphasis on UML (class, sequence, state). Subtopics include software design patterns and software architecture (MVC).

Course Outcomes

- Develop models of software systems that describe the dynamic behaviors and illustrate the structures of the software designs
- Document system requirements and designs using Unified Modeling Language and appropriate tools
- Analyze software system business cases to determine system requirements for software designs
- Analyze the process of using UML diagrams in the software development life cycle to develop accurate software programs
- Develop clear, comprehensive software design documents that incorporate necessary diagrams, models, notations, and next steps

Required Materials

Using your learning resources is critical to your success in this course. Please purchase directly through the SNHU Online Bookstore rather than any other vendor. Purchasing directly from the bookstore ensures that you will obtain the correct materials and that the IT Service Desk, your advisor, and the instructor can provide you with support if you have problems.

Microsoft Azure Dev Tools for Teaching

Southern New Hampshire University students in STEM courses (and some business courses) may obtain discounted, often free, Microsoft software through the Microsoft Azure Dev Tools for Teaching program. Review these Microsoft Azure guidelines for information on accessing your software. If you have trouble downloading and installing the software, contact your instructor.

This course uses the following Microsoft Azure software:

- Microsoft Visio

Instructor Availability and Response Time

Your class interaction with the instructor and your classmates will take place on a regular, ongoing basis. Your instructor will be actively engaged within the course throughout the week. You will normally communicate with your instructor in the weekly discussions or the General Questions discussion topic so that your questions and the instructor's answers benefit the entire class. You should feel free, however, to communicate with your instructor via SNHU email at any time, particularly when you want to discuss something of a personal or sensitive nature. Your instructor will generally provide a response within 24 hours.

The university prohibits unlawful discrimination on the basis of disability and takes action to prevent such discrimination by providing reasonable accommodations to eligible individuals with disabilities. A disability is a condition or impairment that impacts a “major life activity” or “major bodily function.”

- Major life activities include, but are not limited to, caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.
- Major bodily functions include, but are not limited to, functions of the immune system, normal cell growth, and digestive, bowel, bladder, neurological, brain, respiratory, circulatory, endocrine, and reproductive functions. Disabilities include physical, medical (including pregnancy), mental health, and learning needs.

At the beginning of each term, or as soon as you become aware of a disability or accessibility concern, we encourage you to contact the Online Accessibility Center (OAC) to discuss accommodations for which you may be qualified. Reasonable accommodations are established through an interactive process between the student and the OAC.

Note that accommodations are not retroactive and that disability accommodations are not provided until acceptable documentation of a disability and its impact is received and an accommodation letter has been processed. If you are unsure whether your condition qualifies as a disability or accessibility concern, please contact the OAC for determination.
